Headline:
Very cold with frequent snow showers.

Today:
Another very cold day with frequent snow showers leading to further accumulations in places. Remaining breezy at the coast although winds will become much lighter than recently. Ice and frost will be widespread with temperatures remaining below freezing for some. Maximum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Tonight:
Snow showers will steadily ease through the evening with most places becoming dry with clear skies after midnight. As winds fall light temperatures will plummet bringing a severe frost. Minimum temperature -9 deg C (16 deg F).

Thursday:
Remaining very cold with plenty of crisp winter sunshine and residual lying snow on the ground. The odd snow shower may affect coastal areas during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Likely remaining cold throughout with strengthening southerly winds. Mainly dry and sunny on Friday and Saturday. Possibly turning cloudier on Sunday with a risk of snow.
